Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1845, by GEORGE B. GREEN, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of Vermont.

J. HOWE, Printer, 39 Merchants Row.

THE OXYGENATED BITTERS

Are a sovereign remedy for DYSPEPSIA, in many of its forms, such as pain in the Stomach, Heartburn, habitual Costiveness, Acid Stomach, Headache, loss of Appetite, Piles, Night Sweats, and even Consumption, (Dyspeptic Phthisic,) and Asthma, or Phthisic attended with derangement of the Stomach, (or Dyspeptic Asthma,) Difficult Breathing, which often results from imperfect digestion (or Dyspeptic Dyspnœa,) is relieved by these Bitters. In short, their use has been proved in the relief of almost all the symptoms that proceed from a debilitated or a tonic condition of the Stomach; also in general debility arising from age or from the effects of Fever, particularly Fever and Ague. Females suffering under any uterine derangement arising from weakness, will find the "OXYGENATED BITTERS" an excellent remedy, and not surpassed by any medicine in use.

The history of this medicine is peculiar. It has made its way to public favor solely by the force of its own intrinsic merits. No artificial means have been used to give it notoriety and thrust it upon public attention. It has never before even been advertised, but having first shown its remarkable efficacy in the family of the proprietor, and by him afterwards administered to his afflicted friends and acquaintances with a like result, its reputation gradually extended until it is now known in the most distant parts of the Union, as a medicine of unrivalled virtues in the cure of Dyspepsia in all its different forms, and also for the cure of Asthma or Phthisic. Its only herald and its only eulogy has been the story of its wonderful efficacy, as told from mouth to mouth, or by letter from friend to friend. In every instance where these Bitters have been used, and the result made known to the proprietor, they have proved a remedy. Persons, who had been afflicted for years, had tried various remedies without success, and have been compelled to abandon all business, have been speedily restored to sound health and strength by the use of the "OXYGENATED BITTERS." Such persons gratefully, and with enthusiasm told what it was that had cured them, and urged others similarly afflicted to procure the medicine. Thus applications to the proprietor increased—numerous letters were received at his residence from a distance, inquiring where the Oxygenated Bitters could be obtained; and orders multiplied so rapidly, that he has been urged by his friends and by the afflicted to engage extensively in the manufacture of the medicine, and to establish agencies for its sale in the principal towns and cities of the Union.

This medicine is formed upon no new theory of the inventor, but in accordance with known principles, universally received as sound by all scientific Physicians. By a long and patient study of this disease, and long acquaintance with medicine, the proprietor at length had the good fortune to produce in the "OXYGENATED BITTERS" a sure, safe and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, &c., as named in his advertisement. The formula for its preparation has been submitted to eminent Physicians and Chemists, who have invariably pronounced it thoroughly scientific, and better adapted for the cure of the diseases for which it is intended, than any medicine now in use—indeed it is prescribed by many physicians who have witnessed its good effects; and the proprietor feels confident that it will soon become the chief remedy used by Physicians and others for the cure of Dyspepsia, &c.

In offering the above medicine to the Public, the Proprietor would not, in the usual style of the present day, boast of the "tens of thousands of cures performed;" while probably not one tenth of the number have ever tasted the medicines—neither does he pretend, that it will never fail of performing a cure, knowing, as he does that there may be such a peculiar state of the system that no one medicine alone will suffice. To pretend that it will prove a sovereign remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," or that it will restore a lost limb, or sightless eye, "by purging and purifying the blood," would be to adopt a course of quackery by which the public have been quite too long imposed upon, and with which they have become fully disgusted. But with confidence, founded on experience, he offers it to the afflicted, asking them first to try it, then to judge, and as their judgment is, (founded on trial of the medicine,) so let it be known to the world.

Numerous certificates, attesting the singular efficacy of the "OXYGENATED BITTERS," are in the possession of the proprietor; many of them signed by persons already widely known to the public.

CERTIFICATES.

Boston, February 1, 1848.

DEAR SIR:—As the Oxygenated Bitters have been submitted to you for chemical examination, will you be kind enough to state whether, in your opinion, the ingredients are scientifically and chemically combined, and whether the medicine is calculated to meet the end in view, viz., the relief and cure of Dyspepsia, Asthma, and General Debility?

And much oblige your ob't serv'ts,

To Professor A. A. HAYES, M. D.

STIMPSON, REED & CO.

MESSRS. STIMPSON, REED & Co.

Lowell, February 1, 1848.

Gentlemen:—In reply to your inquiry, I state that the composition and mode of preparing the Oxygenated Bitters have been made known to me by Mr. Geo. B. Green. The medicinal articles used, are those prescribed by the most eminent physicians, for the relief from, and cure of the diseases for which these Bitters have been so successfully used. The combining of them is in accordance with chemical rules, securing the efficacy of each; and the compound seems to have resulted from extended observations in medical practice.

Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

DR. GEO. B. GREEN,

Boston, December 6, 1847.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your question in regard to the action of the "Oxygenated Bitters," I feel much pleasure in stating that from its prompt and decisive effect in alleviating and overcoming a severe and chronic case of Indigestion and Dyspepsia in my own family, and from a knowledge of its wonderful results in curing several attacks quite as severe in other families of my acquaintance, I consider it a sovereign and infallible remedy in that distressing complaint, and would cordially and earnestly recommend it to all who may be thus afflicted.

Respectfully yours,

ISAAC DANFORTH,

Boston, January 20, 1848.

MESSRS. STIMPSON & REED,

Gentlemen:—By reading in a small pamphlet I picked up at my door, the testimonials of a large number of highly respected individuals in favor of the “Oxygenated Bitters,” for the cure of Dyspepsia, a disease by which I have suffered for several years, but most severely during the last, I was induced to make a trial of them, and to my great surprise I soon found myself relieved of the distress I so long suffered, and my flesh and strength returning. And now after a trial of more than six weeks, and having taken nearly three bottles of the medicine, I have the fullest confidence in its power to cure; and although the price is large, compared with other popular medicines, yet should I be again afflicted as I was when I commenced taking it, I should pay ten times its present price, if I could not obtain it otherwise. Respectfully yours, ROYAL BOSWORTH.

GEORGE B. GREEN, Esq., WINDSOR.

Detroit, August 30, 1845.

Dear Sir:—Having been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and having been cured, as I believe, by your “Oxygenated Bitters,” I most cheerfully attest their efficacy. My case was a bad one. In the space of four months I lost my strength and forty-seven pounds of flesh, was compelled to abandon business, and remained an invalid for fifteen months. Travelling, abstinence from office duty and recreation had done something for me, but there seemed little probability of a cure, until I began to take the Bitters. In one week I was greatly relieved, and in three weeks I was perfectly well, and have since regained thirty pounds of flesh. You are at liberty to use this, if it will at all further your laudable purpose of diffusing this valuable remedy. Respectfully yours,

C. C. TROWBRIDGE.

From Hon. H. D. FOSTER, Member of Congress from Pennsylvania.

Washington, D. C., June 10, 1846.

Dear Sir :—I have been a dyspeptic sufferer for about ten years, and have resorted to various medicines for relief without success, until I made use of your "Oxygenated Bitters." I have used about two bottles, and find myself restored to perfect health. The forms in which the disease showed itself, in my case, were, great acidity of the stomach, loss of appetite, extreme flatulence, severe constipation of the bowels, and violent headache. Feeling desirous that a knowledge of your valuable remedy may reach others similarly afflicted, I take great pleasure in recording my testimony to its curative power; and would also remark, that while on a visit at home a short time since, I administered a part of a bottle to a number of my afflicted friends, with great success. They are desirous that you should establish an agency at Pittsburg, or inform them where the medicine can be obtained. With an earnest desire for your prosperity and happiness, I subscribe myself truly your friend,

H. D. FOSTER.

From Gen. A. C. DODGE, Delegate in Congress from Iowa Territory.

Washington, D. C., May 18, 1846.

DR. GEO. B. GREEN :—Dear Sir,—The "Oxygenated Bitters," with which you were so kind as to furnish me, have had a most salutary effect in my case. I was troubled with Dyspepsia for four years, during which time I tried many remedies, but never met with any so good as your Bitters. I am now in the enjoyment of good health, and I hope, and believe, that all who use the "Oxygenated Bitters" will find them as serviceable as I have found them.

With high respect and esteem, your obedient servant, A. C. DODGE.

DOCT. GEO. B. GREEN, Windsor, Vt. :—Dear Doctor,—I intended before leaving Washington City last Spring, to say to you in black and white, as I have frequently done viva voce, how high I esteemed your "Oxygenated Bitters," and that I have no doubt but they will act as a certain, speedy and agreeable cure of Dyspepsia, in any case, it matters not how obstinate. Your bitters acted as a charm with my friends, Hon. A. C. Dodge, M. L. Martin, H. D. Foster, and others, as they did with myself.

Your obedient servant,

GEO. W. JONES.

Washington, D. C., June 15, 1846.

DR. GEO. B. GREEN :—Dear Sir,—I feel it not only a pleasure, but a duty, to make known to you and to the public, (if you desire it,) the surprising effects of the "Oxygenated Bitters," in relieving me from that most discouraging disorder, Dyspepsia. I have been afflicted for about 17 years with the usual attendant symptoms, viz., constipation of the bowels, headache, pain in the chest, flatulence, acidity of the stomach, and severe nausea; and for months at a time not the least particle of moisture would appear on the surface of the chest or limbs, and most of the time I was extremely bilious. I have used various remedies, have been strict in my diet, have been dosed with calomel and emetics day after day by physicians, but all to no good purpose. Hearing of the wonderful effects of the "Oxygenated Bitters" in the cure of Dyspepsia, I procured some as a last resort; have used four bottles of the medicine, and find the bad symptoms all removed, and myself once more in the enjoyment of health. None but the Dyspeptic sufferer, who has felt all the horrors of the disease, can at all appreciate the value of the medicine. I most sincerely hope that all will make trial of the medicine, and with me be able to rejoice in the return of health.

Respectfully yours, R. P. STOW.

The following Order was received by the Proprietor from EDWARD E. PHELPS, M. D., Professor of Therapeutics and Materia Medica, Dartmouth College, who uses the medicine in his practice.

FRIEND GREEN:—Please send me two dozens of your “Oxygenated Bitters.”

From JOSEPH HOXIE, Esq., New York City.

To Messrs. M. V. B. FOWLER, No. 88 John Street, } and H. H. JONES, No. 176 Broadway. } New York, July 31, 1847.

GENTS:—After having suffered many years from repeated attacks of Dyspepsia, in its worst form, and almost exhausted my hopes of being able to obtain any permanent relief, I was induced to have recourse to the “Oxygenated Bitters,” prepared by Dr. GEORGE B. GREEN, of Windsor, Vt., for which you are his Agents. It gives me great pleasure to say, that its effect upon me has been highly beneficial, eradicating the disease, and restoring me to good health; and I sincerely hope that all who may be suffering from that dreadful disease, will be induced to give the medicine a trial, fully believing they will not be disappointed in the result.

JOSEPH HOXIE, No. 76 Wall Street.

Guildhall, September 29, 1845.

I hereby certify, that for about fifteen years I was greatly afflicted with that most distressing malady, Dyspepsia. The disease had attained to such a degree that the most simple food caused great distress. My bowels became so costive, and such was their derangement, that no evacuations would take place for days, say from five to twelve, and sometimes fourteen, without the aid of laxative medicines. I was daily troubled with severe headache and water-brash, or copious discharge from the stomach, of a liquid which was more acid than vinegar; and such was the wasting away of flesh and strength, as to unfit me for the discharge of the ordinary business of life, and render life a burden. Various remedies had been resorted to, and physicians consulted, but relief was not obtained until I procured of Mr. George B. Green, of Windsor, Vt., some of his “Oxygenated Bitters,” which I used more or less for about six months, and which, under the blessing of a kind Providence, restored me to a good degree of health and strength. Having been thus restored to health by these “Bitters,” and feeling a sympathy for those similarly afflicted, I would earnestly recommend the dyspeptic sufferer to make trial of this safe and sovereign remedy, as I have done several and at all times since I have learned its true virtue.

GEO. A. REED.

From Rev. THOMAS KIDDER, Chaplain Vermont State Prison.

Windsor, Vt., August 8, 1846.

DEAR SIR:—It gives me great pleasure to inform you that the “Oxygenated Bitters” with which you furnished my wife, has wrought a cure in her case.—About two years since my wife was violently attacked with neuralgia in the face, through the chest, in the wrists and ankles. So violent was the disease, added to a general derangement of the female system, that her strength was completely prostrated, her flesh wasted, and she rendered miserable indeed. I feel grateful for the restoration of her health, and in duty bound to give publicity to the above facts, that others similarly afflicted may know where to seek for a cure.

Truly your friend, THOMAS KIDDER.

Windsor, Vt., September 12, 1846.

DEAR SIR:—From my earliest recollection I have been troubled with a violent Catarrh and Asthma, the difficulty increasing as I advanced in years, until the last two years; since which time the inconvenience has been but trifling. The relief I attribute wholly to the effect of your "Oxygenated Bitters." For many years, from about the 20th of August to the 1st of October, I have suffered extremely from a tightness in the head, preceding a difficulty on the lungs; then would follow a severe itching in the eyes, nose and ears, attended with an increased flowing of mucus from the glands in the head; this falling upon the lungs, produced a tightness, attended with a violent cough, and ultimately loss of appetite, feverish habit, and pain in the side. For many years I have been compelled to resort to blistering and other external irritation. My difficulty in breathing has been such, and such has been the accumulation of mucus or phlegm on the lungs, that I have been obliged to keep in an upright posture, sitting in a chair during the night; and my health had become so much impaired, and having a severe cough fixed upon me, that it was considered doubtful as to my recovery. Since I have used the Bitters, my sleep has been quiet and refreshing, enabling me to recline upon the bed; my appetite has been good, as also my digestion, and although I am not in the enjoyment of PERFECT health, and never expect to be, disease having made such inroads upon my constitution, yet, none of those grievous evils and bad symptoms attend me. I feel it a duty (and discharge it most cheerfully,) to recommend the use of the "Oxygenated Bitters" to all who are afflicted with any of the above symptoms; feeling that the medicine has been worth thousands to me, and trusting that it will prove equally beneficial to others. Duty to the afflicted requires that you give more publicity, and a wider circulation to the medicine. You are at liberty to make such use of this communication as you deem proper.

Feeling under great obligations, I am, your obedient servant,

DR. GEO. B. GREEN, Windsor, Vt.

S. WARDNER.

Middletown, Ct., December 4, 1845.

DR. GEO. B. GREEN:—Dear Sir,—It affords me great pleasure to be able to testify to the wonderful virtue of your "Oxygenated Bitters." I think my case one of peculiar interest; therefore I send you a sketch of my case before taking your medicine, and after its use, which you can make use of should you see fit. I was in Salem, Mass., in the month of June, 1845, having just returned from sea, and owing to the intense heat, I was slightly "sun-struck," which reduced me so much that I was unable to attend to my business for several months, and during that time I was badly afflicted with dyspepsia, weak stomach and indigestion, and had taken every medicine that was recommended to me, without any effect. I gave up all hopes of ever recovering. I then went to Windsor, Vt., and was there recommended by Dr. E. E. Phelps, to give your "Oxygenated Bitters" one trial, as he had used them with good success in a number of cases. I have used only four bottles of your medicine, and to my utter astonishment it has entirely cured me. I do sincerely recommend your medicine to all afflicted with dyspepsia, and believe they will find it a most valuable remedy.

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES H. HOLMES.

Woodstock, September 20, 1845.

This certifies that my wife, in the year 1840, suffered a miscarriage, which was followed with a profuse and alarming flowing, that baffled the skill of her physicians, and seemed to be hurrying her to a premature grave. As a last resort, she was induced to make trial of the "Oxygenated Bitters," prepared by Dr. Green, of Windsor, Vt., which, to our surprise, had the desired effect—immediately checking the discharges, and restoring her to health and strength.

W. BILLINGS.

Cornish, N. H., October 20, 1845.

This certifies, that for a long time previous to the winter of 1844, I was troubled with a severe pain in my side; loss of appetite, a troublesome cough, attended with profuse expectoration; also attacks of high fever, succeeded by chills; and such complete prostration of strength as to compel me to keep my bed for the most part of my time. I was attended by physicians, by whom my case was pronounced to be the consumption. In the winter of 1844, I was advised to use the "Oxygenated Bitters" prepared by Mr. Green, of Windsor, Vt. I procured some of the Bitters, which, in a very short time, restored me to health and strength.

AMANDA RAWSON.

Cornish, N. H., August 15, 1845.

I hereby certify, that my daughter Ruth was so much afflicted with Asthma or Phthisis from infancy as to debar her the privilege of regular attendance at school, and also the pleasure of joining in the sports of children. When she was eight years old I was advised to try the effect of the "Oxygenated Bitters," prepared by Dr. Green, of Windsor, Vt., which advice I followed. She used about half a pint of the Bitters, which restored her to perfect health, and she has remained so to the present time. It is about two years since my daughter used the above medicine.

ANDREW FITCH.

DIRECTIONS FOR USING THE "OXYGENATED BITTERS."

The full dose is a common table spoon full three times a day, on an empty stomach, at least one hour before eating. Put the dose into about one gill of clear water, or Gum Arabic water, and make quite sweet with sugar. No salæratu, soda, or other alkali to be taken into the stomach while using the medicine. The mouth should be rinsed with clear water or weak salæratu water, immediately after taking the medicine, as it is highly oxygenated, and might in time injure the teeth; but if care is used, no injury will arise, but rather a benefit, by the antiseptic properties of the medicine and its overcoming the acidity of the stomach, which causes the decay of the teeth. As the irritability of the stomach varies in different individuals and in different stages of the disease, I would recommend to begin with a tea-spoon full, and gradually increase to a full dose in the course of a week or ten days. The use of wine, ale, porter, or any alcoholic drinks, should be dispensed with while using this medicine.

In cases of extreme constipation of the bowels, it would be well to use, in addition to the above medicine, about 5 grains of Rhubarb per day for two or three days, or until one or two evacuations have been had from the bowels. I would not advise to the use of more than two bottles of the medicine unless some symptoms of relief appear. If the disease is of that character which will not yield in the least to two bottles, it is fair to conclude that the medicine is not suited to it, and a further use of it will be attended by useless expense. But where the bad symptoms appear to be giving way after the use of two bottles, it is then proper to continue the medicine until the disease is entirely eradicated from the system; not expecting that a disease which has been fastened for years, can be dispelled in a day. Let the bottle be well shaken before using the medicine.

Age or climate, (if the bottles are kept well corked,) do not destroy the virtues of the medicine.

Each bottle of the genuine medicine will be accompanied with an outside wrapper, on which will be the signature of the Proprietor, in his own hand writing.

Windsor, Vt., Aug. 10, 1846.

GEO. B. GREEN Proprietor.
